Shepherd Wellness Community

Wellness for people affected by HIV/AIDS

1. Welcome to the Shepherd Wellness Community

Welcome to the Shepherd Wellness Community. We are a community of members, staff, volunteers and board members who are committed to helping people living with HIV/AIDS improve their wellness.

SWC is a unique community where you can find support and understanding, enjoy nutritious meals, make new friends, have fun at outings, picnics and social events, enrich your life through classes or support groups, and hear wellness and healthcare speakers.

We hope this Member Handbook will be a guide to help you understand and make the most of your membership in our community.

If you have questions about our community, please speak with our Executive Director, who is happy to answer your questions and assist you.

2. Introduction to the Shepherd Wellness Community

a. SWC History

In the summer of 1987, four young men living with AIDS, along with a social worker and a physician, met with Episcopal priest Father Lynn Edwards to discuss the effects of AIDS and HIV infection in the Pittsburgh area. Then, as today, Pennsylvania ranked among the ten states with the most cases of AIDS. Yet, there was no place in Pittsburgh where people with this disease could bring their partners, families, and friends to find support and assistance. From this meeting, grew the Shepherd Wellness Community – a center for people with HIV/AIDS and their loved ones.

Our history mirrors the stories of courage, commitment, caring and sharing that mark the course of the disease which initially affected mostly young white gay men.

In 1985-86 Pittsburgh was reeling from a surge in deaths from what is now known as AIDS. People originally from Pittsburgh returned home when they became ill. They needed support and help, but AIDS caused many to be alienated from their families.

In 1987, after a meeting with four men infected with the disease, Fr. Lynn Edwards, along with physician Bill Brandon and social worker Cynthia Klemanski, founded SWC. The men wanted a safe and secure haven where they could socialize with their friends and speak openly without fear. That meeting led to the start of monthly potluck Wellness Dinners at the Church of the Good Shepherd in Hazelwood. SWC became a true community, a non-judgmental, non-sectarian gathering place for those infected, their loved ones and friends.

In 1989, a small house in grave need of repair was rented to provide a Drop-In Center in Hazelwood. Members now had a place to meet, watch TV, do laundry and get slightly used clothes. The existence of our growing community meant that many would no longer die alone. Fr. Edwards remarked that in the early years our mission focused on helping people with AIDS to die with dignity.

In 1990, Friday Wellness Dinners were moved to the First United Methodist Church in Shadyside due to ever-increasing numbers of people attending. The dinners were held twice each month. Our ritual of the “circle of friendship” before each meal continues to this day.

In 1994, the Drop-In Center moved to the parish house of the Church of the Good Shepherd.

In 1998, our Center relocated to leased space in the Bloomfield Community United Methodist Church. Our Executive Director, Scott Peterman, was hired in 1999.

In 2000, SWC began a period of extraordinary growth. New members included heterosexual men, women and children; SWC expanded services to include dinners four times per month with wellness speakers on alternate Fridays. Periodic socials and outings were added to our growing list of programs.

In 2001, the Bloomfield Community United Methodist Church and its parsonage were donated to SWC for a dollar. SWC raised funds for three new furnaces with air conditioning, a new roof and a chairlift to make our Center handicap-accessible, comfortable and welcoming.

In 2003, SWC undertook a strategic planning project. Our mission was revised to reflect changes in the disease. Our new mission was, “to help people affected by HIV/AIDS live with dignity”. Policies and Procedures were developed to help clarify and improve our nonprofit governance and operation and staff were hired to expand our capacity to manage programs, administration and finances.

In 2006, after a 6 month financial campaign, the SWC kitchen, dining room and Center were renovated. The dining area was completely gutted and refurbished and a new commercial kitchen was built. New windows, doors, security and fire monitoring systems were added to improve safety and make our Center more energy efficient. Pews were removed from the former sanctuary to create activity space. SWC expanded our wellness dinners to twelve times per month with classes or support groups after each dinner. Monthly outings were added to our schedule.

In 2013-4, a strategic planning project examined the rapidly changing environment of HIV/AIDS and developed a new mission, vision and core values. The mission of SWC is became “helping people living with HIV/AIDS improve their wellness.”

In 2015-6, a strategic alignment project was initiated to help SWC evaluate possibilities for program expansion and plan for long-term sustainability.

SWC is unique in the region for HIV/AIDS programs provided in the context of a supportive community and the leading provider of wellness education and social support for people living with HIV/AIDS in the eleven-county region of Southwestern Pennsylvania. The diverse SWC community of minorities, women, LGBT people and heterosexuals reflects the current demographics of HIV in our region.

SWC employs ten part-time staff and one full-time executive director. A dedicated board of directors provides governance and direction to the organization. Each year, SWC recruits more than 500 volunteers, who provide approximately 1,500 volunteer hours.

What began as a concerned group sitting around a kitchen table has become the only HIV/AIDS community Center in Western Pennsylvania.

b. SWC Mission

Helping people living with HIV/AIDS improve their wellness.

c. SWC Vision

Positive people.
Expanded reach.
Supportive community.
Improved wellness.

d. SWC Core Values

Adaptable. We adjust our strategies and services to adapt to changes in the HIV prevention, treatment, and funding environment to assure effective fulfillment of our mission and alignment with our strategic direction.

Collaborative. When making decisions, we solicit input from SWC members, staff, committees, Board, and the community. We develop working relationships and partnerships with other organizations to help us effectively fulfill our mission. We seek to avoid unnecessary duplication of services.

Community. We cultivate a safe, supportive, respectful, inclusive, and non-judgmental community environment.

Stewardship. We are responsible, honest stewards of all resources entrusted to us. We conduct our work with appropriate accountability and transparency.

Wholeness. We appreciate the complexity of every person and every aspect of their being. These aspects include the spiritual, social, occupational, physical, intellectual, and emotional dimensions of their lives, as well as the impacts of health, family, culture, community, history, and life experiences. We recognize that individuals are part of many dynamic and interconnected systems that must be understood holistically.

e. SWC Programs

Wellness Dinners improve nutrition, reduce isolation and provide social support.

Peer counselling phone calls connect members with HIV/AIDS services and offer a lifeline of help, support, and hope.

Support groups boost mental and physical health. Groups guide members through the challenges of living with HIV/AIDS and help participants to deal with anxiety, depression, and other relevant issues.

Wellness education programs offer health and wellness guidance and provide information about HIV/AIDS treatment, medications, and the latest medical advances.

Complementary therapy classes teach members how to improve health and wellness and strengthen their immune systems.

Treatment adherence and risk reduction programs advise members on effective maintenance of their HIV medical regimen and ways to decrease the risk of HIV transmission and reinfection.

Spiritual life programs are presented in an interfaith format and offer insight, encouragement, inspiration, direction, and guidance.

Social and recreational outings combat isolation and loneliness and provide a supportive community.

Wellness classes improve quality of life by addressing the Six Dimensions of Wellness (social, occupational, spiritual, physical, intellectual, and emotional).

Transportation assistance, in the form of bus tickets or mileage reimbursement, helps members attend programs and access services.

Equipping people affected by HIV/AIDS is an important part of our work. Loved ones who accompany HIV positive members to SWC programs find support, information, and advice so they are better equipped to help their HIV positive loved ones.

Parents or guardians must not ask a SWC member, staff or volunteer to supervise their children.
- FOLLOWING POLICIES AND PROCEDURES: SWC establishes policies, procedures, and program schedules in order to effectively provide services and meet the requirements of governance and funders. Examples are name tags, transportation ledgers, membership updates, certification requirements and food service policies. Members are required to follow established policies and procedures. each program are available only to reimburse each bus ride a member has actually taken to and from the SWC program.

- FEEDBACK AND SUGGESTIONS: We value your feedback. It is our goal to address your feedback thoughtfully and quickly. Feedback cards are provided at every SWC program. Cards are forwarded to the Executive Director so they can be appropriately handled. Providing your name will enable SWC to clarify the issue with you and communicate the actions taken. You may also verbally tell us about any suggestions you may have. Since staff may forget or misinterpret verbal feedback, we ask that you convey your ideas to the Executive Director. The SWC Program Committee is also a place where suggestions or program ideas may be shared by SWC members.
- CONSUMER GRIEVANCES: A grievance related to services provided may be submitted to the Grievance Committee Chairperson using a “Consumer Grievance Form” (available from the SWC office and on our web

In like manner, members shall not provide special favors, gifts or gratuities to staff, volunteers or board members. Such transactions may pose a conflict of interest, create financial dependency, present the appearance of favoritism or lead to an accusation of inappropriate conduct. Examples are: giving cash or other items of value, making loans, cashing checks, childcare services, or paying for event registrations or admissions. Gratuities or tips of any kind are not permitted.
- PARKING: SWC does not provide parking. All parking is on-street and regulated by the Parking Authority of Pittsburgh. 4. SWC Board, Staff, Committees and Nonprofit Structure

h. The SWC Board of Directors

Source: Ten Basic Responsibilities of Nonprofit Boards, Second Edition, by Richard T. Ingram (BoardSource 2009).

The basic responsibilities of a board and the legal duties of board members

The board is legally responsible for the operation of the nonprofit organization for which it serves. In fact, individual members can even be held personally liable for improper conduct if they breach their duties. So, pay careful attention to the law and board duties. Doing so will help you minimize risk and ensure your organization is the best it can be.

Standards of Conduct

Under the law, each board member must meet certain standards of conduct. These standards are typically described as duty of care, duty of loyalty and duty of obedience.

1. Duty of Care: board member must exercise "reasonable care" when he or she makes a decision for the organization. In this case, "reasonable" is what a prudent person in a similar situation might do.
2. Duty of Loyalty: board member must never use information gained through his or her position for personal gain. This means each member must always act in the best interests of the organization.
3. Duty of Obedience: A board member must be faithful to the organization's mission. This means he or she cannot act in a way that is inconsistent with the organization's goals.

Board Responsibilities

In addition to standards of conduct, as a governing body, the board has a responsibility to support management and staff, and ensure operations run smoothly and in accordance with the law.

Following, are 10 responsibilities of nonprofit boards:

1. Establish mission and purpose.
2. Select the executive director.
3. Support and evaluate the executive director.
4. Set policies and ensure effective planning.
5. Monitor and strengthen programs and services.
6. Ensure adequate financial resources.
7. Protect assets and provide proper financial oversight.
8. Build a competent board.
9. Ensure legal and ethical integrity.
10. Enhance the organization's public standing.

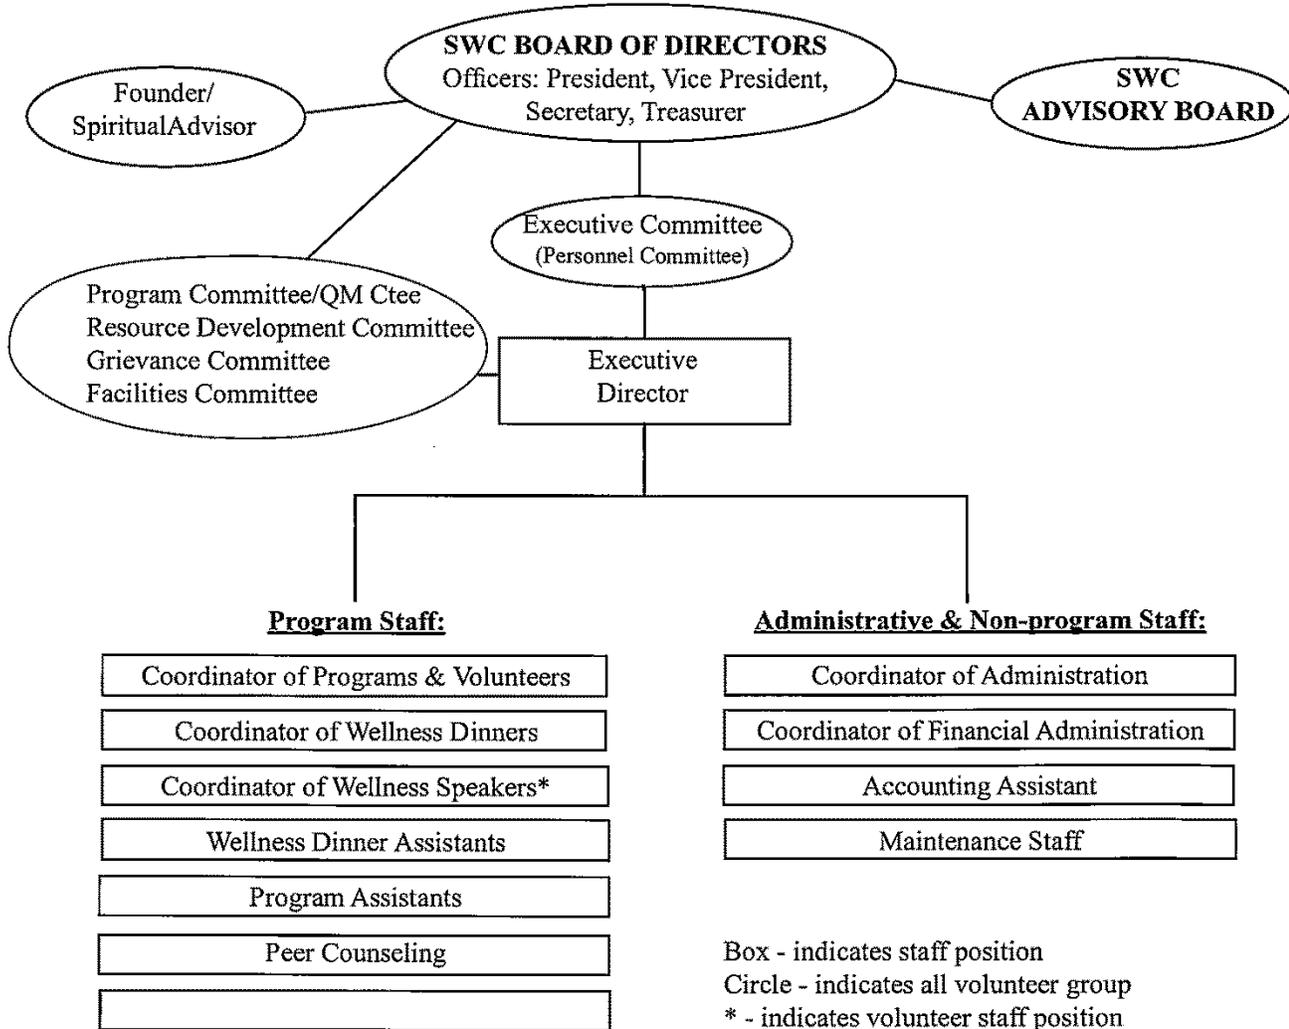

i. SWC Board members are expected to:

- Commit to a full two-year term. Board terms begin on September 1.
- Participate in a 90 minute board meeting every other month (Jan., March, May, July, Sept., Nov.)
- Participate in a 90 minute committee meeting every other month (Committees: Resource Development, Program, Facilities, Grievance, Executive/Personnel, Theater benefit Planning Committee)
- Serve as an active ambassador, connector, and leader for SWC in the community
- Support our work financially as you are able
- Additional opportunities for service include: chairing a committee, volunteering at Wellness Dinners, providing professional advice to our organization, assisting with special projects.

- The only information Shepherd Wellness collects is required by our funding sources. This information is confidential and will only be seen by a limited number of SWC staff. Your information is protected to the full extent of the HIV Confidentiality Law of the State of Pennsylvania, commonly known as “Act 148”.
- Members, employees, and volunteers must understand that in the course of attending any Shepherd Wellness Community event, they may learn facts about individuals living with HIV that are of a highly personal and confidential nature. Examples of such information, in addition to HIV status, are, but are not limited to, the individual’s medical condition and treatment, mental health, addiction problems, finances, living arrangements, employment, and sexual orientation. Members, employees, and volunteers should understand that all such information, by law, must and will be kept confidential. Members, employees, and volunteers must agree not to disclose any information to any person not authorized to have such information without the written consent of the individual to whom the information pertains.

6. Non-Discrimination Policy

- SWC and its employees shall not discriminate against any individual on the basis of race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, place of birth, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, familial status, age, or non-disqualifying physical or mental disability, or on any other basis protected by federal, state or local law.
- Whether any such conduct is deemed to be illegal or not, conduct by employees or members such as that described below is prohibited:
 - Epithets, slurs, ridicule, insults, or threatening, intimidating or hostile acts, including those that purport to be “jokes” or “pranks”, made to or about someone because of his or her membership in a protected class or exercise of legal rights;
 - Stereotyping or offensive comments, cartoons, pictures or objects (such as swastikas or KKK paraphernalia) that denigrate or insult members of a protected class or those who exercise legal rights;
 - Demeaning, hostile or derogatory remarks directed at someone because of his or her protected class status or exercise of legal rights.

7. Offering suggestions, ideas and feedback

- We value your feedback. It is our goal to address your feedback thoughtfully and quickly.
- Feedback cards are provided at every SWC program. Cards are forwarded to the Executive Director so they can be appropriately handled. Providing your name will enable SWC to clarify the issue with you and communicate the actions taken.
- You may also verbally tell us about any suggestions you may have. Since staff may forget or misinterpret verbal feedback, we ask that you convey your ideas to the Executive Director.
- The SWC Program Committee, which is open to all SWC members, is also a place where suggestions or program ideas may be shared by SWC members.
- Member input meetings are also conducted at Friday dinners several times each year. These events are opportunities to provide feedback and program ideas.

PROCEDURES

1. Written grievances (a Grievance Form is provided for use) may be brought or sent to the Grievance Committee Chair by any SWC member. The Grievance Committee Chair will investigate and bring the grievance and the results of the investigation to the Grievance Committee within one month of the written grievance being presented.
2. A grievance may not be submitted in response to actions taken related to violations of the "SWC Code of Conduct". The process for members to respond to allegations of Code of Conduct violations depends on the nature of the incident and is provided to members as part of the Code of Conduct resolution process.

5. The recommended resolution shall be reported to the consumer within one week of the Grievance Committee meeting.
6. If the consumer is not satisfied with the resolution, he/she may appeal the resolution to the Executive Committee of the Board.
7. The Executive Committee shall meet within two weeks to consider the consumer's appeal. After reviewing the relevant information, the Executive Committee will either confirm the resolution recommended by the Grievance Committee or recommend an alternative resolution.
8. The decision of the Executive Committee will be reported to the consumer and to the Grievance Committee within one week of the meeting at which the appeal is considered.
9. The decision of the Executive Committee may be appealed to the full Board if the consumer is not satisfied. The full Board will have one month to investigate and make a decision on such an appeal. The decision of the full Board is final and will be reported to the consumer within one week of the meeting at which the appeal is considered.

At least quarterly, without revealing the details of the specific grievances, the Grievance Committee will report to the Board the number of grievances received, number resolved, number appealed, number resolved on appeal, and the general nature of the grievances received.

12. Opportunities for HIV/AIDS Advocacy – Region and State

Pennsylvania's HIV Planning Group (HPG) - Meets in Harrisburg

The HIV Planning Group (HPG) is a group of individuals united for the common purpose to contribute to HIV care and prevention planning across the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Committee members serve by virtue of their life experiences and expertise and are not functioning as representatives of any agency or organizational affiliation. The Committee is charged with developing the multi-year Plan to include objectives and recommended interventions and activities.

In addition, they review the Department of Health's applications for funding from The Centers for Disease Control (CDC) and the Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA). They also provide input and recommendations to the Division of HIV/AIDS on other care and prevention related issues.

The current community advisory, called the HIV Planning Group (HPG), will assist the Pennsylvania Department of Health (DOH) as it writes the first fully integrated Care and Prevention Plan in 2015.

Regional HIV/AIDS Collaborative – Facilitated by the Jewish Healthcare Foundation - Meets in Pittsburgh

A Regional HIV/AIDS Collaborative is facilitated by the Jewish Healthcare Foundation and is open to HIV positive people, service providers and other stakeholders involved with HIV/AIDS care. Contact the Jewish Healthcare Foundation at (412) 594-2550 for more information about participating in collaborative meetings.

The Jewish Healthcare Foundation (JHF) serves as the fiscal agent for funding from the Ryan White Part B, State 656, and HUD HOPWA (Housing and Urban Development – Housing Opportunities for Persons with AIDS) in the 11-county southwestern Pennsylvania region. These funding streams facilitate the delivery of health care, supportive and housing services to eligible individuals living with HIV/AIDS and prevention/education services to at-risk populations.

The HIV/AIDS program provides technical assistance based in Perfecting Patient CareSM methodologies that aid organizations to improve their quality of healthcare and social services delivery to clients with HIV/AIDS. Currently, the program administers funding for the Department of Health of Southwestern Pennsylvania and 12 sub-grantee provider organizations.

Through the fiscal agency, in 2012, JHF launched the Minority AIDS Initiative, and is working with 20 AIDS Service Organizations (ASOs) across the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to re-engage HIV-positive individuals who are not receiving treatment.
